Summer vacation starts tomorrow. This year's summer vacation is 44 days long!

I'm sure many families are making fun plans. Things that can only be done during a long vacation, or things that can be done because it's summer vacation, are all these little experiences that add up and help a child grow. I look forward to hearing from children when they look back on their summer vacation and say, "That was fun!" "I got to do that!" "I worked hard on XX every day!"

Also, how you spend your summer vacation can influence your 2nd school term. Please give your children the support and care they need at home.

Although summer vacation is a fun time, every year children are involved in water and traffic accidents somewhere in the country. There have also been reports of severe symptoms and death due to hyperthermia. At the end of the quarter ceremony, we drew attention to the importance of life during the summer vacation under the title "My Precious Life and the Life of Others." Please instruct your family members to be careful as well.

① Be careful with water accidents, only go to rivers and seas in the company of adults.

③ Put on your helmet to save your life

② Measures against suspicious persons: "IKA NO OSUSHI": Values communication with the local population.

To the parents and guardians in the first quarter, thank you very much your understanding and collaboration on several occasions.

I look forward to meeting the children who will probably grow both mentally and physically on September 2nd.

Every day we feel the warmth of the people in the community

On July 17th (Tuesday), swimming lessons including the preliminary day ended successfully. It was great to hear the children's cheers coming from the pool, which I was unable to hear last year. This was Tsu City's first attempt to use a public swimming pool, and there were many challenges from the preparation stage, but with the help of the Board of Education and other departments of Tsu City, we were able to make it happen. I would also like to express my deepest gratitude to the PTA monitoring volunteers who were able to put safety first.

Furthermore, at the Kumozu community meeting with the Tsu mayor held the other day, the PTA president attended as a representative of the parents and spoke mainly about requests regarding environmental improvement at our school. At that time, I heard that the president of the Residents' Association Union and other local representatives spoke out, saying, "We want the children of Kumozu to be given top priority." I learned of this when a senior official from the Tsu City Board of Education, who was present that day, called me later and said, "I could feel the warmth of the people of the Kumozu community." The president raised this issue at the PTA board meeting the other day, and I would like to express my gratitude to the parents and teachers for supporting the school's requests for environmental improvement and repair of facilities throughout the community. Our sincere thanks.

And last but not least, we received kind words every day from people in the community like: "Good morning", "Nice to meet you", "Welcome home" and "Will ○○chan be absent today?" as we walked to and from school. Thank you very much to everyone in the area for your hard work during the first quarter.

Let's do the summer vacation tasks step by step with your own strength.

Interactive generative AI such as ChatGBT, BingChat, and Bard are still in the development process, and while they offer great convenience, they do not allow for the leakage of personal information, the risk of copyright infringement, the spread of false information, critical thinking ability, creativity, and the desire to learn. There are concerns about various risks, such as the impact on children, and when using it in educational settings, it is necessary to fully consider the developmental stage of children and students.

The Tsu City Board of Education believes that for the time being, including during the summer vacation, it is not appropriate for students to use generative AI for homework, etc.
